KINETIC MOTORSPORTS POSTS TWO TOP-10 FINISHES AT ROAD AMERICA

Buford, Ga. - Kinetic Motorsports joined the masses at one of North America's best road courses this weekend at Road America in Elkhart Lake Wisconsin. The track itself is over four miles in length which is one aspect of the famous venue that every competitor looks forward to. Fortunately for everyone at Kinetic and the rest of the paddock, the weather held out for the event allowing cars to practice, qualify and compete in dry conditions. Kinetic co-owner and IMSA Cup driver Russell Smith took full advantage of the great weather navigating the track to help the team achieve the needed setup to produce results during race conditions.

Smith posted impressive top-10 times during both practices for the fourth installment of the 2006 IMSA Cup Challenge presented by Michelin paving the way for a solid qualifying effort. After qualifying his No. 38 Porsche 997 in the 16th position, Smith was in a great spot out of the 43 entries to set the pace for a top-10 finish.

The green flag waved to send the field into race mode however the fast paced action was not to last for very long as several double yellow flag conditions caused the field to run 8 laps under caution. The field did however use this time to prepare for restarts by staying in much closer proximity than in previous race situations allowing the potential to gain position each time the green flag dropped. Smith took full advantage of these situations and crossed the finish line 10th in class.

"Road America is just a great track," said Smith. "The field was quite large as is the usual with the IMSA Cup and the competition was fierce. Although we did encounter several double yellows I am pleased with the results and if anything we are all now experts at restart. Shawn did a great job in our first time out with the Radical so Cheers to him for that. I would like to thank all of the guys for a great event and look forward to the next IMSA race coming up at Mosport."

Shawn Price, President and CEO of Savvion, is ranked 4th in total points this season in the IMSA Cup Challenge competed with Kinetic Motorsports with its new Radical program in the IMSA Lites Series. Price who is one of the most gifted gentlemen drivers in the paddock was behind the wheel of Kinetic's No. 6 Radical Pro Sport for the team's inaugural race in the newest series sanctioned by IMSA in conjunction with the ALMS.

Price qualified the Radical 7th in class and 9th overall. The race went extremely well for Price and Kinetic as he managed to take a top-10 finish in class as the first Radical to cross the finish line.

"For my first IMSA Lites race it was an incredible experience," said Price. "The Radical was at 90% right out of the box in terms of setup and the Kinetic team worked extremely hard to make sure we had a great car. We qualified well but ran into some top end speed issues that I think can be resolved with more time behind the wheel. Any driver interested in driving these Radicals has the chance through Kinetic as they are available for rental. I want to thank Kinetic for the opportunity here at Road America... everything was a blast!"
